

Tax Debt Relief

Are you in debt with the IRS more than $5000? Are you getting collection calls from the IRS for back taxes? Are you under audit, or is your bank account getting levied by the IRS? One of the most hated letters is the CP2000 letter from the IRS. Did you get one of those? Or, did you already get the notice of Intent to Levy?

There are options for you that you need to know about! You may be able to negotiate or settle that debt for as little as $.10 on the $1.00! You may likely not even owe it! You may be able to work out a payment plan with the IRS for months or even years that will save your credit and keep you from filing bankruptcy, or even worse, losing your home or other assets.

There are excellent tax resolution services available from Action Tax in Auburn, Washington that you need to consider before going out to a national “brand name” company that will work with you only over the phone and internet to solve your problem.

We are a Certified Public Accounting firm with years of experience working with the IRS to settle or abate tax debt and problems for individuals and businesses. You do have options you need to consider! Getting representation before the IRS is very important and much less stressful. We help you with the following types of debt issues with the IRS:

- Unfiled Tax Returns (personal 1040 taxes as well as business 1120 and 1120S)
- Self-Employment tax debt (which you may be able to legally abate)!
- Business entity (like an S Corporation) issues with the IRS
- Debt owing with the IRS for personal and business taxes
- Payroll taxes (including 941, 944, 943 and 940 reports) and filing W2 and W3 reports
- Preparing, or repairing, 1099 reporting (including 1099Misc, 1099R, 1099S, 1099C, 1099A, 1099B, and 1099K) for the IRS and your business or personal returns

You may not owe anything. You may be in the position to get a refund when the IRS sends that nasty-gram saying you owe them! Timely responses are VERY critical though! Ignoring the IRS letters can hold you accountable even when you would not normally owe the IRS money.

Call us today for a free consultation. Bring in your letter and information you have, and we will take action (if appropriate) to represent you before the IRS, and take care of your issues quickly.
